We cordially invite you to visit our Nurseries at West Newbury and Newburyport and see the fine quality of nursery stock that we are growing. Both Nurseries are located on improved roads easily accessible the year around.

If impossible to visit the nursery, we invite you to order by telephone or mail. We use the greatest possible care in the selection of all stock and we will gladly pay return charges and replace any stock not satisfactory if notified within five days after arrival of goods.

We are always glad to have customers order stock at the nursery where it can be seen, but we cannot dig orders while the customer waits to take them. We will gladly tag and reserve special plants if the type and size wanted is other than the usual nursery run, but as orders through the spring are promised several days in advance most of the time, it will be necessary to dig them in rotation as ordered and either hold them to be called for or to be delivered by our trucks. This is necessary as it is hardly fair to delay orders taken at an earlier date.

The above does not apply to Roses, Fruit trees or any of the various shrubs or evergreens that we often have dug ahead or heeled in.

During the spring planting season, our Nurseries are open from 7:00 A.M. until 5:00 P.M. every weekday. Closed Sundays. The balance of the year from 8:00 A.M. until 5:00 P.M. closing at noon Saturday.

Gold Medal Exhibit of Peonies at Massachusetts Horticultural Society, Boston, June, 1945

Foreword

For over one hundred years the Cherry Hill Nurseries have been engaged in the growing of fine trees and plants. This long experience enables us to supply you with strong hardy plants that are sure to thrive in our rugged New England climate.

All stock is freshly dug on orders and this insures all stock being in the best possible shape when delivered to our customers.

We guarantee all our stock to be true to name and will replace any that proves other than represented or refund the purchase price. Beyond that, we can give no further warranty, as we cannot control planting conditions, weather and aftercare.

All prices for stock are here at the Nursery, and packing on large plants will be charged at cost. We are equipped to make truck delivery on full loads throughout New England and the surrounding territory at a cost which in most cases is not greater than the combined cost of packing, freight or express. This is a very satisfactory method as plants are delivered fresh, directly to the planting site. On smaller orders, less than a full truck load, we can usually make combination load deliveries within a radius of 40 miles of the nursery, the cost being divided depending on the size of the order. These of course cannot be delivered on any specified date. All plants, however, not balled will be packaged or wrapped so that if the customer is not there on arrival, they will keep safely for several days.

Due to modern methods of handling, the transplanting season has been greatly extended. Our spring season usually commences the last of March or early April and continues through June during which time almost all plants may be safely moved. Our fall season starts with the planting of evergreens and perennials in late July and deciduous material from October until the ground freezes. Large trees are economically moved in winter with frozen balls of earth.

One to four plants of a single size and variety at the each rate; five to twenty-four at the ten rate; twenty-five or more at the hundred rate when such rate is given. These prices apply to our usual first grade stock, but when a tree or plant of outstanding quality is selected, a special price is charged.

Terms: charge accounts for thirty days' credit may be opened by new customers giving satisfactory bank or trade references, but to those unknown to us, we ask for cash with order.

Owing to the uncertainty of supplies, we reserve the right to change prices without notice.

RHODODENDRON HYBRIDS

With their large heads of flowers, varying in shades of bright crimson, pink or white, these are among our most striking of flowering shrubs. When not in bloom, the dark evergreen leaves give pleasing foliage effects. Many of the hybrids are not suitable as far north as this and we have selected and grown those of Rhododendron catawbiense parentage which have proved hardy. In planting, mix the soil with peat or leafmold, which has an acid reaction and is retentive of moisture during the summer. Heavy watering in the late Fall will provide the plants with sufficient sap to carry them through the dormant winter period.

MALUS—The Flowering Crab-apples

This group of small trees, attaining a height of eight to twenty feet, is one of the most satisfactory for northern New England. A wealth of bloom in May, varying from pure white to bright scarlet, is followed by another season of color in the fall, when the small fruits of yellow or red, lasting until freezing weather, provide very welcome food for the birds. For late transplanting, after about May 10th, these should be dug with a ball of earth. Extra charge for balling 3 ft. size 90c; 4 ft. size $1.25; 5 ft. size $1.75; 6 ft. size $2.50; 7 ft. size $3.00.

Fruit Trees

The home grounds are scarcely complete without some fruit trees. The flavor of fruit ripened on the plant has a delicacy which more than compensates for the care expended in cultivation.

Our list comprises varieties which we believe are satisfactory for this latitude. Due to present conditions, many are difficult to obtain and our supplies are limited.

APPLES

	Each	Per 10
2 yr., 5 to 7 ft.....	$1.50	$14.00

Summer Varieties

Fall Varieties

Early McIntosh—Fully as good eating as its parent plant, but available almost a month earlier than the McIntosh.

Winter Varieties

Roses

In our northern climate, roses must be selected with a thought for hardiness and vigor as well as the bright color effects desired in the garden. Our list covers a wide range of color and we have found these to be vigorous. In this latitude the plants should be protected for the winter by heaping earth around them and then covering with a mulch so that they are covered six inches deep. In the spring prune back to live wood.

All our Hybrid Tea Roses are potted in generous-sized containers. These will be available after May 10th. They will then be well established to grow rapidly for bloom in June and throughout the summer.

As roses need more aftercare than flowering shrubs, we cannot be responsible for their growth after they leave the nursery and any complaints must be made within ten days after being received.

As the supply of roses is limited this year, we may be out of certain kinds and will substitute varieties similar in color unless otherwise directed. Please advise us if you do not wish substitutes.

We do not recommend fall planting of roses for this latitude.

HYBRID TEA ROSES

These will give an abundance of bloom from June until frost. They should be liberally fertilized every year and given some protection from the sun and frost during the winter.

	Each	Per 10
Potted plants	$1.40	$13.00

Peonies

For hardiness and vigor and for sheer loveliness, Peonies are among our most useful perennials. When once established, the plants increase in size and quality for many years and the rich coloring of the flowers adds much to the beauty of the border or garden. They do well from Georgia to Saskatchewan and give pleasure in gardens where many other perennials fail to grow.

Peonies are especially decorative as cut flowers and many amateur enthusiasts give thousands every year to churches and hospitals.

We have endeavored to consistently maintain our free-blooming Cherry Hill Strain by selective propagation and the large vigorous plants which we furnish give satisfactory results.

Culture of Peonies

Peonies will grow in almost any location, but do best when not planted too near large trees. However, where they are given some shade from the hot afternoon sun, the delicate colors may be retained. A good garden soil of loamy texture, where there is drainage, will produce satisfactory roots and flowers. In this type of soil, no especial preparation is necessary except to loosen and break up any lumps.

You may use any garden fertilizer available or bone meal. Wood ashes containing lime and potash have proved very satisfactory. The amount will be determined by the size of the plant, but a good handful is a rough measure. Too much rain may cause botrytis, a fungus which causes the stems to wilt and turn black. We find that ground limestone is one of the best correctives and this may be used freely. The diseased stems should be burned.

The roots should be planted so that the buds are about two inches below the surface when the ground is settled around them. Too deep planting will result in good foliage but no blooms. This is usually the cause for lack of blooms. Do not attempt to replant Peonies in soil where they have grown before, and if the same location is desired, the earth should be removed and replaced by fresh earth from another part of the garden. When the buds attain about an inch in size, they exude a sticky honey which is attractive to ants, but these seldom do harm and will disappear in a short time.

Peonies may be successfully planted at almost any time of the year, but are most easily handled in the fall from September to November, and early in the spring before the buds have pushed through the ground. The first season will not produce large and often not typical blooms. They should be treated as permanent plants and will grow and thrive from ten to twenty years in one location.

NEW INTRODUCTIONS

For many years we have been growing new peonies from seed pollenized by the best known varieties. We have observed these carefully for blooming qualities and have discarded those which did not measure up to our highest standard. The ones listed below are, we believe, of merit and will hold their place in any garden.

Arthur H. Fewkes. A variety originated by the late Arthur H. Fewkes and named by his family. Strong stems of medium height. Wide petals of fine form and texture, ivory white with salmon shadings at base of petals which give a buff or salmon light throughout the flower. Late. $20.00 each.

Amberglow. Strong upright stems of medium height bearing dark green leaves which have a peculiar fluted effect. The bud is delicate pink and the flower globular, flesh pink with salmon lights. Late but opens well and is noticeable for its delicate coloring and crisp freshness. L. D. $4.00. 1 yr. $5.00.

Annisquam. Large globular blooms of tender pink which retain their coloring until the petals fall. The petals are broad and rounded forming a cupped-shaped flower of smooth attractive appearance. Good both as a cut flower and for garden use. Pleasant fragrance. Midseason. We consider this one of our finest introductions. $20.00 each.

Magnolia (Japanese type). Bright rose-pink with overlapping petals. Center of enlarged stamens of chrome-yellow which are crusted with golden yellow. Strong vigorous growth. Extra good for garden effects. L.D. $2.50, 1 yr. $3.50.

Rapture. Very large, the outer petals broad and rounded, center petals shorter giving the blooms a cupped effect. Pure white suffused with a soft creamy light. Pleasant fragrance. Midseason. $15.00 each.

Summer Cloud. Faint pink buds open into well-formed flowers with wide outer petals of white and center of narrower petals having a creamy light. Long, strong stems. Midseason. L.D. $4.00, 1 yr. $5.00.

White Gull (Japanese type). A double row of broad rounded petals of white surround a cushion of yellow stamens. Red stigmas. Much admired by all who have seen it. L.D. $2.50, 1 yr. $3.50.

SERIES A

In this series we have grouped the newest and finest varieties which we have been able to obtain. We grow and test many varieties, listing those which seem most desirable.

Prices quoted are for large divisions of at least three to five buds and for one year clumps; for example L. D. $1.50, 1-yr. $2.00.

The number following each name is the percentage rating given by the American Peony Society.

A. P. Saunders 8.6, a Cherry Hill production. Large, flesh-pink flowers, lighter in center, outer petals sometimes marked carmine. Slightly fragrant. Late. L.D. $1.50, 1 yr. $2.00.

Single Peonies

Prices quoted are for large divisions of at least three to five buds and for one year clumps; for example, L.D. $1.50, 1 yr. $2.00.

Two-year clumps add 50 per cent to one-year price.

Price per dozen at ten times the single rate. Priced at $1.50 each would be $15.00 per dozen.

The number following each name is the percentage rating given by the American Peony Society.

The single flowered varieties are the first to bloom, but the side buds will continue to bloom over a considerable season. They are especially satisfactory for garden effects as they withstand the rains and wind where the heavier doubles might be beaten down. The large yellow centers of stamens give a distinct note.

Adana, broad petals of delicate shell-pink. Long buds resembling roses. $1.50 each.

Clairette 8.1, long arching stems bearing large pure white flowers. The petals are long and silky. $1.50 each.

Write us your planting problem.

- Helen 8.9, a Cherry Hill production. Stems very tall and erect with broad foliage. A double row of broad, cupped petals of deep shell-pink surround a mass of golden stamens. The earliest to bloom. L.D. $2.00, 1 yr. $3.00.
- Le Jour, large pure white, petals of good substance and a fine variety. L.D. $2.00, 1 yr. $2.50.
- L'Etincelante 8.4, broad petals of bright pink with silvery borders. Especially attractive in the garden. $1.50 each.

Japanese Type Peonies

These so-called Japanese Peonies which have been grown in this country are those which have one or two rows of petals and centers of stamens much thickened. These latter are almost devoid of pollen and in some varieties make thick cushions of golden yellow. In others the stamens are self-color tipped or crusted with yellow. The effects are beautiful and distinct and are charming for the garden and as cut flower decorations.

Prices quoted are for large divisions of at least three to five buds and for one year clumps; for example, L.D. $1.50, 1 yr. $2.00.

Ama-no-sode 9.2, large, bright rose-pink with lighter tints. Extra. L.D. $3.00, 1 yr. $4.00.

Aureolin 8.9, pink, deep sulphur center. L.D. $1.50, 1 yr. $2.00.

Charm 9.2, deep red with well-formed center of yellow. The petals are smooth and rounded making a very attractive flower. L.D. $3.00, 1 yr. $3.50.

Departing Sun 8.5, broad petals of carmine-red. Stamens petal color, crested yellow. When seen in the light of the setting sun, it fairly glows. L.D. $2.50, 1 yr. $3.50.

Dog Rose 7.9, attractive soft pink. L.D. $1.50, 1 yr. $2.00.

Emma, broad petals of bright pink. Very fine variety. L.D. $3.00, 1 yr. $4.00.

Glow, deep cerise-pink petals surround a cushion of narrow petals overlaid and crusted with straw yellow. A bright tone in the garden. L.D. $2.00, 1 yr. $2.50.

ASSORTED COLLECTIONS

For those who wish a good collection without names, we can furnish a good assortment in two grades—$4.00 and $6.00 per dozen. They are all good varieties and would be worth much more if sold to name.

For those who wish Japanese-type Peonies, we can furnish two grades in a mixture of colors. $5.00 and $7.50 per dozen.

Phlox

For masses of color in the garden or border in summer and early fall, there is nothing more satisfactory than Phlox. The newer varieties have been selected for their clear coloring—bright scarlet reds, clear pinks, soft lavenders and purples avoiding magenta. These with white give pleasing color combinations.

Phlox should be planted in well-drained, fertile soil and thinned every three or four years. This allows more air drainage and overcomes the tendency for the lower leaves to mildew. Dusting the foliage with sulphur is also one of the best methods of prevention. Pick off the faded blooms before the seed ripens. This allows the plant to make a second flowering and prevents seedlings springing up and choking the parent plants. Seedlings are usually inferior in color and cause much confusion.

40 cents each; $3.50 per ten except as noted.

Five plants of one variety will be furnished at the ten rate.

Hauptmann Kohl, medium height, midseason. Bright glowing red. Large compact heads on strong stems. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

Leo Schlageter, tall, early midseason. Brilliant scarlet with salmon lights. Growth strong and vigorous. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

Maid Marian, medium height, midseason. This variety which we originated is of strong growth producing masses of soft lavender flowers.

Mary Louise (Saunders), tall, late. We introduced this variety some years ago and it is now considered to be the best white phlox. Well-formed heads bearing large, waxy white flowers of great beauty.

Miss Lingard (P. suffruticosa), dark glossy green foliage and medium-height stems. White with a faint pink eye. Flowers early and intermittently throughout the summer.

Ruth May, medium height, late. Continuing in bloom over a long season. Fresh light pink with deeper eye.

A border planting of Rhododendrons

Iris

The bearded Iris have a wide range of color, their various tints and hues embracing all colors of the rainbow. They are hardy and easy to grow, continuing for years with almost no attention. Liberal use will produce masses of bloom making a most colorful garden through May and June.

We are constantly adding new varieties which we consider have intrinsic worth and discarding those which are superseded.

The old leaves and stalks should be cleaned off and burned to leave no harboring place for disease or pests.

Five of one variety will be furnished at the ten rate.

Alta California—tall, clear yellow slightly flushed bronze at base of petals. 40 cents each, $3.50 per ten.

Ambassadeur—tall, reddish-violet with velvety violet falls. 30 cents each, $2.50 per ten.

Venus de Milo—medium, rich white flowers with a golden beard of very pleasing effect. One of the best white varieties yet produced. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

Wabash—A very popular new variety of distinct coloring. Tall, standards clear white and falls of bright purple edged white. $1.25 each.

Various Iris

Sibirica orientalis—narrow foliage and deep blue flowers resembling Spanish Iris, but hardy. Naturalizes well. 30 cents each, $2.50 per ten.

Perennials

Herbaceous perennials form one of the most important parts of the garden or border as they continue to increase in size and beauty from year to year. A selection will give bloom throughout the season.

There is such an immense range of species and varieties that we do not attempt to grow them all and offer those which have proved the most hardy and satisfactory for these climatic conditions. We are constantly trying new varieties and adding those of merit.

Strong Field Grown Plants are priced at 40 cents each; $3.50 per ten except as noted.

Five or more of one variety will be furnished at the ten rate.

Aconitum napellus bicolor. Upright growth bearing pyramidal heads of attractive blue and white flowers. Ht. 3 ft. July-August. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

Alyssum saxatile compactum (Gold Tuft). Masses of small, bright yellow flowers in May. Ht. 12 inches.

Anchusa italica Dropmore. Very attractive with its bright blue flowers on strong branching stems. May-June. Ht. 4 ft.

Anchusa myosotidiflora. Light blue flowers much resembling forget-me-nots on low bushy plants. May-June. Ht. 12 in.

CHRYSANTHEMUM—Hardy Garden Varieties

The first three varieties are variants of Amelia often called Azalea or Cushion mums. The plants make low mounds covered with literally hundreds of blooms from early August until hard frosts. They will give an abundance of color for a long season.

Amelia. Soft rose-pink. Very attractive.

Amelia, Red. Bright crimson with yellow center.

Cocheco. Very hardy variety producing rounded plants which are covered by a profusion of bright rose-purple, double flowers. Blooms in early fall and continues in good condition for several weeks. Ht. 2 ft.

Early Bronze. Attractive bronze-colored flowers in October. Ht. 2 ft.

Chrysanthemum, Shasta Daisy, Alaska. A glorified monstrous white daisy borne on strong stems. Ht. 2 ft. June to October.

Delphinium hybridum. A very choice strain with flowers ranging from the darkest to the lightest blue on long spikes. June and September. Ht. 5 to 6 ft.

Dianthus plumarius. (Grass Pink). Light, silvery foliage. Fragrant flowers varying from flesh-white to deep pink. May-June. Ht. 12 in.

Dicentra spectabilis. (Bleedingheart). An old-time favorite with heart-shaped pink and white blossoms borne in long sprays. May-June. Ht. 2 ft. 75 cents each.

Dictamnus fraxinella. (Gas Plant). Deep rose-pink flowers borne on bushy plants. Very attractive. June. Ht. 2 to 3 ft. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

Dictamnus f. alba. A white flowering form of the above. 50 cents each, $4.50 per ten.

- Digitalis gloxinoides. (Foxglove). A biennial bearing long spikes of showy flowers in assorted colors. June-August. Ht. 3 to 4 ft.
- Digitalis lutea. Pale yellow flowers borne on stems. Ht. 1½ to 2 ft. July, August.
- Gaillardia grandiflora. (Blanket Flower). Daisy-shaped flowers of yellow with deep crimson centers. July-October. Ht. 2 ft.
- Gypsophila, Bristol Fairy. (Double Baby's Breath). Bears a multitude of tiny double white flowers nearly all summer. Ht. 2 ft. 60 cents each.

HEMEROCALLIS—DAYLILY

The new varieties have a long season of bloom from July to September and their range of color adds increased interest to the border. We have a limited number of other varieties if you wish a larger collection.

- D. D. Wyman. Golden yellow with orange splashed petals. Ht. 2½ ft.
- George Yeld. Orange-yellow flowers with pinkish lights. Ht. 2½ ft.
- Hyperion. Very large broad petals of clear canary-yellow. The flowers are 5 to 6 inches across. Considered the finest of all. Ht. 3½ ft. 75 cents each.
- Mikado. Mellow orange, shading into deeper tones of dark red-purple. Of unusual and distinct coloring. Ht. 3 ft.
- Mrs. W. H. Wyman. The glistening, lemon-yellow flowers are very attractive in the late summer. Ht. 3½ ft.
- Ophir. Large flowers of deep golden yellow are borne in profusion. Ht. 3½ ft.

- Hollyhocks. A popular biennial with single flowers of red, pink, yellow, etc. We can furnish only assorted colors. Ht. 6 ft.
- Hosta coerulea. (Plantainlily). Light blue flowers. Foliage of tropical appearance. Ht. 18 to 24 in. July to August.
- Hosta variegata. Similar to the above but dwarf-growing with variegated foliage. Ht. 6 to 12 in.
- Iberis sempervirens. (Hardy Candytuft). Low mounds bearing a profusion of small white flowers in May and June. Excellent for the rock garden.
- Lavendula vera. (Sweet Lavender). An old-time favorite bearing aromatic lavender flowers. Foliage finely cut, silvery gray. Ht. 12 in.

- Platycodon g. mariesi. (Balloon Flower). Buds which resemble small balloons open into soft blue cup-shaped flowers all summer. Dwarf habit of growth. Ht. 18 in.
- Pyrethrum hybridum. (Painted Daisy). Single and semi-double daisy-like flowers in a variety of shades of red. Ht. 18 in. June and July.
- Scabiosa caucasica. (Mourning Bride). Very beautiful, delicate lilac-blue flowers borne in bunches from June to September. Ht. 2 ft.
- Viola cornuta. (Tufted Pansies). Attractive perennial pansy-flowers from early spring until late fall. Clip back old blossoms to induce continuous bloom.
- Avalanche. Large white flowers of good habit.
- Jersey Gem. A beautiful light blue.
- Yellow Gem. Golden-yellow flowers of good size.
- Viola odorata. (Sweet Violet). Single, dark blue flowers, very fragrant on 6 in. stems. April, May.

Effective planting makes an attractive home

PLANTING

On large orders or trees in the larger sizes where the home owner cannot plant alone or obtain help in planting, we can, when previously arranged for, plant the stock we furnish. The plantsmen we can supply have had many years of experience at this work.

MAINTENANCE AND CARE

Evergreens and shrubs, when planted near the house, will in a few years, grow too large for the space assigned them and will mar the effect which was originally intended. Instead of waiting until they are too large and then pruning them drastically, it is much better to give them a light pruning every year. By this method no large branches are cut and the planting will continue for many years improving in value and appearance. We have men available in the summer and winter months and the cost is slight when compared with the results obtained.

Especially near the house, the soil is often dry and lacking in plant food, and it is better to make a light application of fertilizer every year rather than too much at one time.

LARGE TREES

Large specimen trees may be moved with safety at almost any time of the year. The modern method of digging with a large ball of earth on the roots ensures the continuous flow of sap through the fine feeding roots. Trees handled in this manner usually continue to grow without any check and make immediate landscape effects. If arrangements can be made to do this in the winter when the ball of earth may be frozen, it will be found the most economical way. The use of a few large specimens with the smaller plants gives very pleasing and satisfactory effects. We have growing a large variety of specimens which we can furnish, and are prepared to give you estimates on your needs without obligation on your part. You are cordially invited to visit the nurseries and see the quality of the trees and plants at Cherry Hill.

Proper planting fits the home to the surrounding landscape

Rhododendrons give masses of color and are attractive at all times

Landscape Department

Often you are in doubt as to the plants to use for the beautification of your home grounds.

For those who would like help in the matter, we have a competent staff who have had many years experience with the planning for the arrangement of the different trees and shrubs in their most suitable places.

We are always glad to help you in any way possible no matter how small the problem.

Telephone or write for an appointment (a few days in advance if possible) and we will gladly give you any estimates or suggestions that you may wish.

We invite your attention to the easy manner in which our nurseries may be reached. We are only 36 miles north of Boston and excellent motor roads from all directions reach our place. From Boston via the Andover turnpike, through Haverhill, or via the North Shore and Newburyport, or over the historic Newburyport Turnpike, turning at Governor Dummer Academy. From the north, down the beautiful Merrimack Valley, and from Maine and the Provinces through Portland and Portsmouth.
